

PAID THE PENALTY.

Neill, Who Poisoned Several Girls in London, Hanged.

THE WORK WAS QUICKLY DONE.

And the Murderer Met His Fate Stolidly, Paying Little Attention to His Surroundings—Death Instantaneous—He Falls to Join in the Reading of the Religious Service.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—Thomas Neill, otherwise "Cream," the murderer of Matilda Glover and several other girls, paid the penalty of his crimes at 9 o'clock this morning. Notwithstanding the fact that orders were issued directing that the execution should be strictly private, the representative of the Associated Press was accorded permission to enter Newgate prison, where Neill had been confined since his conviction. He learned that shortly before 9 o'clock the authority to hang Neill was handed over by the high sheriff of the county of London to hangman Ballington in accordance with the legal form.

At three minutes to 9 Ballington, accompanied by an assistant who carried the pinioning material, entered the cell of the condemned man where he found the prison chaplain ministering to Neill. Without a moment's delay, the hangman, while courteously asking the permission of the condemned man, deftly and rapidly pinioned him, passing a broad belt about his waist and securing his elbows with two straps tightly drawn back and fastened to the belt behind. Straps were placed around the wrists and connected with the body belt in front. This rendered Neill absolutely incapable of moving his arms or hands. The condemned man did not utter a word during the process which lasted barely a minute.

The procession to the gallows was then formed. It was headed by the chief warden, who was followed by the chaplain, who, as he walked, read the burial service of the Church of England. Neill came next, guarded on each side by wardens. He walked firmly. A deadly pallor overspread his features, but his face showed no other trace of emotion. Close behind the prisoner walked the hangman. As the procession passed through the corridor towards the scaffold the tolling of the passing bell of St. Sepulchre's, which has marked the last moments of so many criminals, resounded through the prison. On arriving at the scaffold the white cap, which had been previously placed upon the head of the condemned man, was pulled down over his eyes. Ballington then guided him onto the trap door, beneath the cross beam from which a rope with a hempen noose at the end was dangling. The white cap was then drawn down so that it covered the chin, rendering it impossible for Neill to see the final preparations for his death. These only took a few minutes. His legs were pinioned with a strap that was fastened below the knees. The noose was then dropped over his head and adjusted around his neck. The ring was fixed behind the left ear. In another second the executioner stepped to a place in the front, pressed a lever and the trap fell. Neill's body dropped five feet into a pit.

Ballington and other persons who saw the execution concur in the opinion that death was instantaneous. There was a convulsive twitching of the muscles of the back and limbs which lasted a few seconds and then the body hung motionless. Just prior to the cap being pulled over his face, Neill thanked the prison officials for their courtesy and kindness. The prison chaplain says that yesterday he found Neill exceedingly morose and unresponsive to his appeals to accept his fate and to think only of passing to a higher life.

This morning the chaplain's endeavor to bring him to a happier frame of mind were to little purpose. Neill passed a restless night, dozing occasionally and then awakening with a start. Neill had doffed his prison clothes this morning and wore a black morning coat and brown trousers. During the reading of the service of the dead on the way to scaffold, Neill remained silent, not joining in like some condemned men going to the scaffold have been known to do. The hangman supposed that the exact length of the drop was 5 feet, 4 inches.

The body was cut down at 10 o'clock. A cast of the head was then made. At noon a jury viewed the body and returned a formal verdict in accordance with the medical testimony that death had been caused by a fracture of the neck. The body was then placed in a perforated coffin, into which a sack of quick-lime was poured. The features showed no trace of the man's violent end.

Wife Murderer on Trial.
LONDON, Nov. 15.—The trial of J. B. Cooper, charged with murdering his wife, at Douglas, Isle of Man, September 3, has begun. Cooper denies his guilt. The prosecution is producing evidence to show that Cooper treated his wife with systematic brutality, and finally he beat and stabbed her to death.

Trying to Cheat the Gallows.
WINDSOR, Ont., Nov. 15.—Anderson Veney, a colored man, awaiting trial for wife-murder, is slowly starving to death in the jail. A week ago he refused nourishment and since then he has not tasted food. Veney has reduced his weight seventy-five pounds and is a living skeleton.

A Similar Case to the Above.
NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 15.—James Still, the colored inmate of the reform school, has completed the sixtieth day of his long fast. Although he has become very weak, he does not show signs of immediate dissolution. The authorities are puzzled over the case and the physicians who have seen Still say that his vitality is remarkable.

Tracing the Murderer.
SUNBURY, Pa., Nov. 15.—Ex-Constable Graeff, who was found dead yesterday with a bullet hole in his head, is supposed to have been murdered by the countrymen of Mathias Yocabonus, who was alleged to have been killed by Graeff. Graeff had been frequently threatened with death.

A REMARKABLE LETTER.

From a Presbyterian Minister, Withdrawing from the Church.
NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—A matter out of the ordinary routine had to be considered by the New York Presbytery at its regular session yesterday held in the Scotch church on Fourteenth street. Immediately after the devotional exercises Stated Clerk Alexander read this somewhat remarkable letter:

HIGHLANDS, N. J., Sept. 29, 1892.
To the Rev. S. D. Alexander, D. D., Stated Clerk Presbytery:

DEAR BROTHER:—Through you I again respectfully request the presbytery of New York to remove my name from the roll for the following reasons: While humbly receiving the scripture of the old and new testaments as containing the Word of God, I decline to subscribe to a merely human declaration of their contents, even though that declaration be so able and so venerable as the Westminster standard. I further decline to be called "Reverend," as being too much like being called "Rabbi," against which our Lord especially enjoined his disciples.

Again, I decidedly prefer not to be identified with any particular denomination of the followers of Christ. Such names and the spirit which they engender seem to be non-scriptural and baneful, rather than beneficial. It is sufficient for me to be a "companion of all them that fear God."

Finally, I suspect that the world and the invisible church are somewhat surfeited with preaching, at least of the prevailing type. Like the army of the Potomac early in 1862, the church has been abundant, perhaps excessively organized and drilled. Men naturally and "unreasonably" expect it now to "go forward" with a boldness, directness and power and success more commensurate with its present numbers, learning, wealth, prestige, and especially its claim of a divine captain of salvation, ever present to direct. As this letter indistinctly withdraws my subscription to the Westminster standards it doubtless renders impossible the continuance of my name upon the roll of Presbyterians.

While thus terminating my special connection with the Presbyterian denomination, I earnestly pray that the divine head of the church may abundantly bless it with all the denominations of his people and remain, your brother in Christ.

(Signed) R. R. PROUDFIT.

P. S.—I erase titles in your address simply to "do as I would be done with."

The postscript is explained by the fact that in addressing Dr. Alexander the writer crossed his pen through the "Rev." and the "D. D." after writing them. Dr. Proudfit is a wealthy man, forty-five years of age, with a residence on a fine estate called the Highlands, between Sandy Hook and Seabright, N. J.

HE LIVED IN STYLE.

Has a Fine Education and Sadly Missed His Talents.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 15.—Superintendent J. R. Simpson, of the Missouri division of the Wells Fargo Express Company, has received a telegram announcing the arrest in the City of Mexico of Ignacio S. Vallarato, a young Mexican, who cut quite a dash in St. Louis some years ago, and who is charged with having stolen $1,484 in cash and diamonds from the company in Mexico, where he was employed as a clerk in the money department.

Vallarato is a handsome man and an excellent dresser. He has also had a splendid education, having graduated at Georgetown University, District of Columbia. These things enabled him, with his credentials from well known families in Mexico, to move in high society in St. Louis when he visited here about four years ago.

BELLAIRE.

All Sorts of Local News and Gossip from the Glass City.

The Democratic jollification last night over the recent landslide that again places Grover Cleveland in the White House was a creditable one. A portion of the town was fairly well decorated and the parade was quite up to expectations, several visiting clubs being present. The parade only covered the central part of the city, and red and blue fire was burned in profusion all along the line. It is worthy of note that the judgment of the cooler heads must have prevailed, and the whole affair was a good-natured jollification and there was a commendable absence of offensiveness of any kind.

The Belmont county medical society held its regular monthly meeting here yesterday, and there was a fair attendance of members. The following programme was rendered:

Paper on Pleurisy, Dr. D. W. Boone, of this city; Discussion opened, Dr. Korner, of Powhatan; Paper on Diphtheria, Dr. D. W. Long, of Bellaire; Discussion opened, Dr. John Cook, of Bridgeport; Paper on Scarlet Fever, Dr. B. O. Williams, of Martin's Ferry; Discussion opened, Dr. Alexander, of St. Clairsville.

The county board of election supervisors met at St. Clairsville yesterday to canvass the returns from the congressional district. This being the largest county in the district the congressional canvass devolved upon it, as did the chairmanship of the new congressional committee.

Marshal Johnson arrested two bums on Union street yesterday evening, who had just dropped into town and seemed to be inspecting various dwellings and stores. They will probably be sent up under the vagrant act. Their actions indicate that the jail is not new to them.

The school teachers organized a class in physical culture at the Central school building last night. This is growing into a great fad among the feminine portion of the community lately.

Marion Huffman is not a candidate for the postoffice. He says the plums are never given to the party workers and that he will not fool away any time looking for pay for his service.

The city council held a short session last night, but gave way to the Democratic parade, and will meet again this evening to consider the purchase of hose and other matters.

Patrick Tucker, a well known Irishman who banked considerable money on Cleveland's election, entertained a party of friends at supper at Paul's restaurant last night.

Fred Myers, wife and child left yesterday for Washington, D. C., after spending a day with the family of C. H. Lewis.

George W. Yost, of the Bellaire bottle company, has been attending a meeting of the manufacturers at Pittsburgh this week.

Congressman Pearson did not show up at the Democratic jollification last night, and many were the disappointed ones.

The new stamping company expects to be running in thirty days. President M. L. Blackburn is whooping things up.

The Shumann Lady Quartette at the M. E. Church to-morrow night will have a crowded house.

Editor Warnock, of the Democrat, has recovered sufficiently to go to the country to recuperate.

Fred Rowley, Jr., had his nose broken by a stick of kindling wood while chopping it.

The W. C. T. U. will meet in the Christian church this afternoon.

Mrs. L. G. Battelle, of Pittsburgh, is visiting relatives in this city.

R. Johnson is building an addition to the Merchants hotel.

MARTIN'S FERRY.

News Notes and Personals from Our Near Neighbor.

Yesterday morning John Stillwell, a catcher at the plate mill at the Standard mill, was seriously burned. He had laid down beside the furnace to take a nap. While asleep, some one put a lot of waste under him, and set it on fire. When he awoke his pantaloons were in a blaze, and before the flames could be extinguished his limbs were fearfully burned, from which he suffered terribly. Dr. Shuttleworth was summoned, and had the man removed to his home on First street, where he attended the injuries, which, while serious, are not necessarily dangerous. His lower limbs were roasted. He suffers about the chest and lungs, and may have inhaled some of the flames.

Amateurs made an unsuccessful attempt to blow open the safe at the C. & P. freight office, on Monday night. The door to the office was pried open. An effort was made to drill holes in the door of the safe and when this was found impossible the hinges and combination knob were knocked off. Nothing else in or about the office was disturbed. No money or valuables are ever kept over night in any of the company's safes.

The men's gospel meeting in the Y. M. C. A. rooms last night was largely attended. Rev. D. H. Kiddle, of Havre de Grace, Md., talked on "The Great Salvation." He will talk at these meetings every evening this week. "Unto the Uttermost" will be the subject this evening. A Bible reading will take place every afternoon at 3 o'clock, to which men and women are invited.

The Wellsville Democrats are making life a burden to Patsy Duffy, a Cleveland & Pittsburgh conductor, because he flopped to Harrison. In their parade Monday night they carried a huge banner on which was painted, "Ain't you sorry you flopped, Pat Duffy?" Mr. Duffy is a stronger Republican to-day than ever.

On account of the delay of Mrs. McCarty, of Montreal, Canada, by a railroad accident at Gerrard, Pa., the funeral of Mrs. John J. Williams will not take place until to-morrow. A short funeral service will be held at the home on Pearl street at 9 o'clock, before the remains are taken to Zanesville.

C. F. Williams, Alex. Poor and C. C. Davis, of the Western Union Company, are here to put up synchronizing clocks for Ellis Lash, Alex. Linn, William Prince, John Kyno, Rev. Father Mattingly and Spence & Son. They will be regulated from Washington, D. C.

Rev. W. H. Burbank, the new rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, will preach his first sermon in Martin's Ferry next Sunday at 3:30. He is from Boston.

Mr. W. D. Callen, of New Cumberland, is visiting City Solicitor H. G. Pratt.

Do you wish to know the quickest way to cure a cold? We will tell you. To cure a cold quickly, it must be treated before the cold has become settled in the system. The first symptoms are a dry loud cough and sneezing. The cough is soon followed by watery expectoration and the sneezing by a profuse watery discharge from the nose. In severe cases there is a thin white coating on the tongue. What to do? It is only necessary to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in double doses every hour. That will greatly lessen the severity of the cold and in many cases will effectually counteract it, and cure what would have been a severe cold within one or two days time. Try it and be convinced. 50 cent bottles for sale by druggists.

American Cholera.

From the Daily Beeville, Waco, Tex.

"T. C. Burnett, the Democratic candidate for sheriff, was taken violently ill at Clearbrook. He had all the symptoms of Asiatic cholera, and for an hour or two it was feared he would die. They finally gave him a dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which revived him until a physician arrived." This is precisely what the manufacturers of that medicine recommend for cholera. Send for a physician, but give your medicine until the physician arrives. If cholera becomes prevalent in this country next summer this preparation will be in great demand because it can always be depended upon.
